HOSPITALS OF CITY ACCORDED
SIGNAL HONOR

Both St. Alexius and Bismarck Evangelical Ranked With Best in the Country

PUT ON APPROVED LIST

Announcement Made in Chicago Followed Personal Investigation of Institutions

Bismarck's two hospitals—the Bismarck Evangelical and St. Alexius—today received a signal honor in being adjudged up to the high standards for hospitals in the United States and Canada set by the Hospital Conference of the American College of Surgeons in session at the Congress Hotel, Chicago.

The local hospitals received the same recognition last year, the reports made to the Congress showing that they had kept well within the standard during the year.

But five hospitals in North Dakota of 100 beds or more met the requirements, and two of these are the Bismarck institutions. The Grand Forks Deaconess hospital, and St. John's and St. Luke's of Fargo both were accorded recognition.

Of the hospitals in the state from 50 to 100 beds, St. Joseph's of Minot and St. Michael's of Grand Forks were declared "approved."

The announcement was made today at the congress in Chicago by Dr. Franklin B. Martin, M. D., Director-General.

In making this official announcement Doctor Martin highly complimented the hospitals of both countries which had taken the steps laid down by the College as necessary to merit such "all-around" recognition.

"By your action," he said, "you have pledged yourself to see that the best care possible is given to the patients in your hospital."

The report is based on a detailed survey made by experts through a personal investigation of all general hospitals of fifty beds and over in the United States and Canada. The investigation is made for the purpose of appraising the hospitals on the basis of the standards set forth in the Minimum Standard. 1786 hospitals with a bed capacity of 238,946 were included in the survey this year. Of the group 1176 or 65.9 percent for both countries met the standard. In the state of North Dakota the following hospitals 7 in number or 68.3 percent merit a place on the Approved List.

N. P. Offices
Are Closed

Fargo, Oct. 22.—State headquarters of the Nonpartisan League in North Dakota will be maintained at York, at least until after the state convention in February or the new League paper is started, it was announced by Chairman W. J. Church. Mr. Church was in Fargo closing up the headquarters which have been maintained in the Herald building on Robert street for the past several years.

Mr. Church also met United States Senator Lynn J. Frazier, who also spent the day in Fargo in consultation with John Bloom on the starting of the new League paper. Senator Frazier returned to Washington.

"League headquarters will be maintained at my place in York until the state convention or until the new League paper has been established," said Chairman Church. "It has not yet been decided where the new paper will be located but when it is the headquarters will probably be maintained in connection with it."

"The committee has no connection whatever with the North Dakota League and that paper does not represent the League officials in any manner," said Chairman Church. "The state committee will control the policy of the new paper."

SHE'S THE BEST IN 400,000

No wonder 13-year-old Theodora Poole of Lansing, Mich., is so happy. Why, her essay on good roads was selected by the Highway Education Board as the best in 400,000, submitted by school children the country over. She wrote it while living in Pontiac, Wis. And now she goes to Washington, as the guest of the National Chamber of Commerce, and gets a gold watch, besides.

FORD ST. PAUL
PLANS GIVEN

Will Develop 18,000 Horsepower on Mississippi

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 22.—Plans for the erection of a large manufacturing and assembling plant, a hydro-electric power plant, and a steam plant on the banks of the Mississippi river between St. Paul and Minneapolis, were announced today by the Ford Motor Company.

The power house will be 160 feet long by 74 feet wide and 48 feet above the foundation. Four water wheels of 4,500 horsepower will be installed, which in conjunction with four vertical generators, will, under normal conditions produce approximately 18,000 horsepower. The dam where the power will be developed is 574 feet long and was completed by the government in 1917.

Within a short distance of the hydro electric plant an auxiliary steam power house will be constructed for use in event of an emergency. The manufacturing and assembling plant will front on Mississippi boulevard and will be faced with stone on three sides and so designed as to give it an attractive appearance.

The building will be one story high, 1,720 feet long and 600 feet wide and will have more than 23 acres of floor space. The four buildings will be erected on an imposing bluff 150 feet above the Mississippi river.

WEST TO FORCE
G. O. P. HAND IN NEW CONGRESS

"Progressives" Planning Active Hand in Organization And in Legislation

BONUS PASSAGE SEEN

Generally Admitted, But View of President Coolidge on It Is Uncertain

Washington, Oct. 22.—Republican progressives of the west who will hold the balance of power in the new Congress are mulling over a program both as to legislation and the organization of the House and Senate and are preparing to enforce their demands by every available means.

Because of the rather unusual situation this will develop and the fact that the 1924 campaign is in the offing leaders of the two dominant parties in Congress look for the enactment of little legislative legislation at the session beginning December 2.

Adjournment probably would be taken in May for the national conventions and much of the time to that date will be taken up with the framing and passing of the annual appropriation bills.

Enactment of a soldier bonus bill is freely predicted, but leaders are not inclined to commit themselves. Efforts will be made to put through some kind of railroad legislation but there are so many conflicting views that the task of harmonizing them into a concrete measure is regarded as difficult. Much of the same situation is expected to develop as to coal legislation. Tax and tariff revision are looked on as only a remote possibility.

The modified excels profits tax, a levy on the undivided profits of corporations and other major changes in the existing laws are being considered by the progressives and they probably will be proposed in bills.

Generally speaking the passage of a bonus bill is viewed at the capitol as a certainty.

President Coolidge's position with respect to this legislation has not been defined but proponents believe they will have enough votes to override a veto should the executive adhere to the policy of the late President Harding.

ASK TO BUILD
FORD BRANCH

Milwaukee Will Reach New Plant on Mississippi

Washington, Oct. 22.—In order to serve a new plant that the Ford Motor company is building at St. Paul, the Milwaukee railroad asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to authorize construction of a new five-mile branch line within the city limits of St. Paul. The same railroad in a preliminary report filed with the commission by the examiners was held justified in requesting a branch line to Bifon Hill, S. D. The examiner's report indicated the project would cost $398,000 and would be unlikely to earn a return on this sum.

Kansas City
Wins Fourth

Baltimore, Oct. 22.—Bunching their base hits and aided by errors and bases on balls, the Kansas City American association team had little trouble downing the Baltimore International league champions in the sixth game in the little world series here Sunday afternoon 12 to 5.

This gives Kansas City four wins against two for Baltimore and means that the Blues must win only one game in the remaining three to clinch the minor league title.

12 CHARGES TO
HAIL WALTON
BEFORE HOUSE

Legislative Committee in Oklahoma to Report Impeachment Charges by Night

GOVERNOR DECLARE: HE WILL STICK TO END, FLOUTING
RUMORS OF RESIGNATION

Oklahoma City, Oct. 22.—The investigating committee of the Oklahoma House today will report 12 articles of impeachment against Governor Walton.

The articles will allege corruption in office, incompetency and offenses involving moral turpitude, the committee announced, with additional indictments to be returned in two days.

It is believed that with the house meeting at 1:30 o'clock balloting on the accusations will begin by tonight or early tomorrow.

Members of the committee say that if any one of the charges is sustained, M. E. Trapp, lieutenant governor, will become acting governor by midnight tomorrow night.

The senate will be prepared to take up the impeachment should any charge be sustained within two days, senate leaders say, with the final verdict to be reached in 10 days.

Governor Walton will face the accusations through to the end, he declared last night.

"There is nothing to report," he declared when informed of rumors that he intended to resign. "Such rumors are simply to weaken my friends and supporters and stampee them. I have no intention of resigning—never have even contemplated it."

TAKE POSITION IN MISSOURI

Rate Expert Leaves Railroad Commission to Go to Missouri Public Body

E. V. Smart, traffic expert for the state railroad commission, has resigned his position with the state board to accept a position as chief transportation rate expert for the Public Service Commission of the State of Missouri. Mr. Smart has been with the state commission for four and a half years. He formerly was in St. Paul but came here from Grand Forks. During his service with the commission Mr. Smart has handled many big rate cases, and has instituted some investigations which have been taken up by other states and become national in scope. He has paid particular attention to the railroad rates on lignite coal in North Dakota and has done much to aid the development of that industry. He recently published the first complete lignite rate book in the state. He also has aided in the effort to prevent growing out of the Grand Forks mill, and handled the intra-state express rate cases in which the state won a victory before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

STENOGRAPHER IN PRIMPING HELD
INJURED IN COURSE OF EMPLOYMENT

A stenographer who "primped" before going on an errand for her employer is engaged in the course of her employment, the Workmen's Compensation Bureau has decided.

The case arose over the claim of a stenographer employed in an architect's office, who was directed to mail letters and deliver other papers. Before leaving the office she stepped to a glass to comb her hair. The comb slipped out of her hand and in attempting to catch it she brought it against her eye, resulting in an injury. The injury was held to have been sustained in the course of employment, the bureau announced. The members were divided, three to two, on the question.

Another case arising in the bureau was described by Commissioner Wenzell today as follows:

A charitable institution, whose main business, aside from caring for its inmates, consists in the operation of farm lands on which there is standing timber, employed a man to assist in taking care of accumulated dead timber and preparing it for use as fuel by sawing. Employee was injured, admittedly through his carelessness. The employee, carrying no insurance with Bureau, paid hospital and medical bills and the sum of $100 to the employee who acknowledged settlement in full. Later he filed an application with the Compensation Bureau asking it to fix and award compensation under Section 11 of the act, in lieu of bringing suit against the employer. Held that Bureau had no jurisdiction as the employer was not one subject to the act.

Another case decided follows: Employee of an elevator company presented claim for compensation alleging that he was suffering from tonsillitis caused by dust and exposure while attending to his duties. Compensation denied on the ground that he was suffering from disease not an injury arising in the course of employment.

Reports received from the state chairmen from practically every state in the union indicate that local observances of the day are being arranged and in many of the states sub-chairmen have been named in towns scattered over the states who are planning local celebrations.

Practically unanimous support has been pledged to the Navy League of the United States, which originated and fostered the idea by men high in public life, by business organizations, every description, religious bodies, women's clubs, labor bodies, military organizations, private individuals and from every phase of the nation's activities.

Every effort is being made to make the observance of the day reach every section of the country and gratifying results are being achieved. The office of the Navy League is flooded with letters and telegrams daily from governors of the states, mayors of cities, large and small, from patriotic and civic organizations and hundreds of others telling of local plans for celebrating the day.

More than a dozen of the governors early notified the department that they had either issued proclamations or taken other official cognizance, calling attention to the day and nearly every man prominent in the nation's public life has given his support. Radio fans from coast to coast will have the opportunity to hear what is all about as arrangements have been made with twenty of the large broadcasting stations to give the country with Navy Day speeches on the night of October 27. Magruder, Dallas, Tex. and Rear Admiral C. P. Goodrich at Hartford, Conn.

Old Sweetheart
Sees Triumph

Rome, Oct. 22.—The commune of Predappio, where Premier Mussolini was born, recently acquired the house of his birth and gave it to him. He was present at the ceremony, and the people acclaimed him delightedly.

In the crowd was a woman still unmarried who, years ago, said to Mussolini as he wooed her with the impetuosity of youth: "We are both as poor as poor can be, and if we married we should only bring into the world beings equal to poor to suffer and wait. It is better that we agree to part." "By all means," replied Mussolini, and went his way to become prime minister.

STATE WITHIN
GERMANY PLAN IS FORWARDED

Republic Is Proclaimed at Aix La Chapelle by Separatists As First Move

TWO ARE WOUNDED

Forces Advocating Breaking Up of Rhineland Occupy Mayence City Hall

Paris, Oct. 22.—The Rhineland group apparently has made a good start at Aix La Chapelle and even attempts are being made to accept the possibility that it will spread rapidly so as to embrace the entire territory.

Franco-Belgian authorities said they do not intend to interfere unless the situation in the Rhineland becomes so serious that it will spread rapidly so as to embrace the entire territory.

They hope to accomplish their purpose before night if possible.

Joseph Mathies, separatist leader, set up general headquarters at Duern. The French and Belgians placed a telephone system at his disposal in order to keep in close touch with movements throughout the Rhineland.

News details of what actually happened overnight had reached French headquarters today and it was unknown whether Crefeld, Bochum and Muenchen-Gladbach were occupied according to schedule.

The separatists worked feverishly to establish their republic before counter plans could be set up. The telephone system at Aix La Chapelle was interrupted to prevent news of the coup reaching Berlin.

DOUBTS SUCCESS

Paris, Oct. 22.—It is understood that Premier Poincare doubts the success of the separatists in the Rhineland and difficulties of the Allies.

There seems to be more worry over the situation in Bavaria than in Rhineland.

Duesseldorf, Oct. 22.—The Rhineland separatists, having successfully proclaimed a republic in Aix La Chapelle, now are planning to make their regime effective throughout virtually the entire zone occupied by France and Belgium.

They hope to accomplish their purpose before night if possible.

DISCUSS STATE FORMATION

Mayence, Germany, Oct. 22.—The governments of the Reichs and of Prussia are reported to have invited the leaders of the various Rhineland separatist parties to meet their representatives in the government building at Cologne on Wednesday. The invitation was the immediate establishment of a Rhineland state within Germany.

Berlin, it is said here, believes that such a state must be proclaimed immediately in order to stop the spread of a separatist movement.

LEADERS INDUCED

Mayence, Oct. 22.—Rhineland forces entered Mayence at 4:30 o'clock this morning, but met with resistance when they attempted to occupy the city hall. Two separatists were wounded in an exchange of shots.

The separatists then went to another building to await the induction of their leaders who are understood to have decided to delay proclamation of a Republic here until Tuesday or Wednesday. The unwilling negotiators with the German police for the peaceable establishment of a Rhineland government.

REPUBLIC PROCLAIMED

Aix La Chapelle, Prussia, Oct. 22.—A Rhineland republic was proclaimed here Sunday.

Separatists occupied the public buildings at 4 o'clock Sunday morning with opposition from the security police.

They propose immediately to begin an extension of their control throughout the Belgian area.

The city was calm, presenting its usual Sunday appearance. The public buildings occupied by the Separatists displayed the colors of the Rhineland republic—green, white and red.

Two proclamations posted. The proclamations were posted. The first of these said:

"To the people of the Rhineland: The hour of unity has struck. Berlin has plunged us in distress and misery. We come to our own assistance."

"We proclaim today a Rhineland republic free and independent, with a view to a peace and friendship with our neighbors and to work in an effective manner with them for the reconstruction of Europe."

"Workers, every man to his post. Immediate care will be taken to assure peace, work and bread."

(Signed)

"The Provisional government: 'Leo Deckers and Dr. Guthardt' To Crush Resistance."

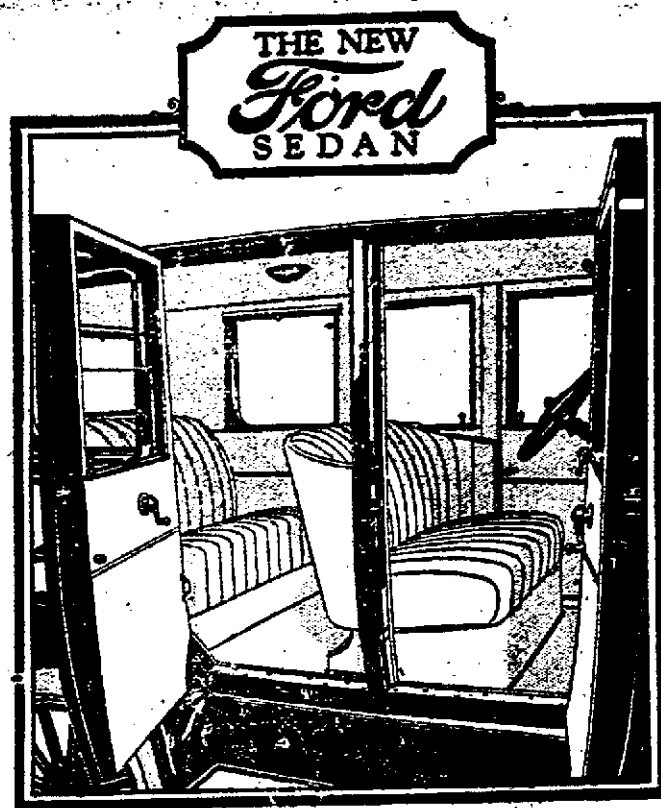

The second proclamation read as follows:

English Send Massachusetts Gift

Hingham, Mass., Oct. 20.—Wood from an oak tree planted by Queen Elizabeth went into the making of three chairs, which have been shipped from Hingham, Norfolk, England, to this town. They are the gift of Harry C. Totts, a builder in the English Hingham, to the Bay State township, which was founded by men from the Norfolk town in the seventeenth century. Sixteen years ago, the top of the tree planted by the great Queen in Kimberly Park died and it became necessary to fell it. Mr. Totts bought the timber and stored it. A few years ago he met Rev. Louis C. Cornish, secretary of the American Unitarian Association, who for sixteen years was minister of the First Parish Church of Hingham, Mass., and decided to make through him gift to this town. Mr. Totts made the chairs which were designed by Hugh Mottram after a model of a chair of the period when the Hingham men emigrated to America. Mr. Totts stipulated that one of them should be used by the chairman of the board of selectmen, one be placed in the First Parish meetinghouse, erected in 1841, and the third be placed in the parish during his lifetime and after that go to the minister of the First Parish Church in perpetuity.

EUROPE THROUGH WITH DUELING

Vienna, Oct. 20.—Pre-war duels in Europe often were serious affairs, but post-war dueling has become largely a farce. Military men have come to a more sane view of the "field of honor," and civil courts are taking the place of meetings at dawn with a brace of seconds and a doctor in attendance. A farcical duel is reported from Budapest. Both principals were directors of prominent banks. They duly appeared on the field of combat, faced each other, and cocked their revolvers. When the signal to fire was given, one man shot his bullet into the ground and the other did not fire at all. Unreconciled, the contestants left the field.

UNJUST RESULTS OF MONEY PLANS

Unsound Currency Gives Sellers Unfair Advantage Over the Producers.

EXPERT EXPLAINS MONEY

Points Out Dangers in So-Called Energy Dollars—Other Plans Exposed.

How demagogues are using false doctrines of so-called "sound money" to give themselves or the class they represent unfair advantages at the expense of real producers is exposed in the Journal of the American Bankers Association by H. Parker Willis, expert on the money question.

"There is no subject in whose name more crimes against truth have been committed than that of 'sound currency,'" Mr. Willis says. "The term is always resorted to by demagogues. At the present moment there seems to be a danger that it will be used by a potential presidential candidate as representing the 'platform' upon which he expects to run. There is no question that more nearly and directly touches the immediate welfare of every class in the community."

Purpose of Money

Primary functions of money and currency, it is explained, are to serve as a means of exchanging goods and as a means of measuring the value of goods. Mr. Willis continues:

"Demagogues and those who are disposed to mislead the public for various ulterior reasons have succeeded in disseminating an entirely different view of the purpose of money. Some of them contend that the soundest or best currency is that which is so arranged as to bring about a 'fair' redistribution of wealth. They want a constantly depreciating currency—one which keeps playing into the hands of the seller of goods, by enabling him to count confidently upon higher prices in terms of money so that he has obtained them less and less. IT IS A STRANGE THING THAT THIS KIND OF CURRENCY IS OFTEN HIGHLY PRAISED OR FAVORED BY THE PRODUCER HIMSELF. NOTWITHSTANDING THAT HE IS THE GREATEST SUFFERER FROM IT."

Energy Currency

There is another popular view of sound currency which aims to base it upon "natural products" or "natural forces"—usually it is true,

PREPARE NATIONAL CEMETERIES

Paris, Oct. 22.—The French government is beginning the vast undertaking of exhuming its scattered war dead and concentrating the bodies in national cemeteries after the American plan. It is a far greater task than the one the American Graves Registration mission has completed. In some sectors, such as the Argonne and around the Saint Mihiel salient, a great many were brought together in military cemeteries, but elsewhere, along the whole battle front, from the Swiss frontier to the North Sea, bodies of soldiers that were killed in the trenches were buried where they fell.

Scattered German dead are also being gathered into large cemeteries by the French, under an agreement with the German government. The German cemeteries that existed at the end of the war are all being cared for by the French authorities who issue special permits to German families to visit the graves of their dead in France.

LIGHT PLANT COMPLETED. Dickinson, Oct. 20.—The new municipal lighting plant, power house and city hall at New England is nearing completion and the power

ADVENTURERS START TRIP OF EXPLORING

Will Investigate Romantic Lands Never Before Successfully Touched by White Men

VISIT SEA ISLANDS

One Explorer Tells of Experiences in Visiting Huts of Inhabitants

Honolulu, Oct. 22.—A breath of romance—lingid lagoons—boiling through the ocean, with all sail set, at the speed of an average steamer—life among the natives in a far-off South Sea isle—of the beginning of a 600-mile trip up a river on which many white men have set out, but none returned—is contained in a letter received here from Myrry N. Fay, commander of the "Narwhal Expedition," an adventurous group of men, who sailed their own small vessel out of San Francisco bay almost a year ago to cruise among the South Seas, drifting from port to port with whatever cargo might be picked up.

The miscellaneous cargo, including a large shipment of dynamite, that the Narwhal carried from San Francisco, was delivered safely at its South Sea destination, according to the letter, which was received by A. P. Taylor, Honolulu newspaperman and author.

The letter was dated "Latitude 15°54; longitude 180, July 27, 1923" and spent more than seven weeks reaching its destination.

"The 'Narwhal Expedition' is still on the map, or rather moving around on the map," it said. "Right now we are passing through the channel between the island of Thibombia and Vanua Levu of the Fiji group. We also are crossing the 180th meridian, where we jump a day."

Wonderful Visit. "We had a wonderful time in the Samoan islands. I think I saw as much of them as any white man has ever seen. While at Upolo, I went on a trip with the New Zealand governor and visited native villages along the shore. We were feted in each village. We lived in their grass huts and I was able to get pictures of some of their celebrations that have never been photographed before. I stayed in Apia several weeks and went to Pago Pago where I made two trips—one to the Manua group where we lived with the natives for a week. The Samoans on these islands appear to be far ahead of the others, because the white man very rarely gets to Manua."

FACTS ABOUT CHECKS

A bank check is a written order on a bank by one of its depositors to pay a specified sum to another party. This instrument must be dated, the amount written in full in the body, and signed the same as the depositor's signature and appears on the bank signature card and ledger sheet.

A check is payable on demand, provided it is not dated ahead. If dated ahead it becomes a promise to pay, the same as a note or acceptance, payable on some future date. United States revenue stamps are required on a check dated ahead, at the rate of 2 cents per hundred dollars, or fraction thereof.

In case a check carries two different figures, that is $2.00 in the figures and "Two Hundred Dollars" in the written part of the body of the check, the latter, or part in writing, always controls.

A check made out to a person "or order," requires identification, and the party presenting the same, must assure the bank that he is the payee. A check to a person "or bearer" is payable to the one presenting it at the bank, but a certain amount of identification is necessary, for the bank reserves the right to know that he is entitled to receive the funds.

Music of the Week

Two Arias from "Tosca" by Gigli—Rachmaninoff's First Double-Recorded

The essential tragedy of Italian song which Puccini put into his superlative "Tosca" finds thrilling expression in the two intensely beautiful tenor arias which Beniamino Gigli sings this week on a new double-faced record. The conflicting emotions of the falsely condemned Mario, the love memory, the brief false hopes, and life sadness are concentrated into this exquisite record by this great artist, singing "E lucevan le stelle" (The Stars Were Shining) and "O dolci mani" (Oh, Gentle Hands).

The name, "The Juggler," is similarly suggestive of Rachmaninoff's whirling piano composition which Sergei Rachmaninoff plays this week, like silver balls hurtling under manual control through the air. As a companion piece the other side offers Erno Dohnanyi's difficult and subtle "Etude in F Minor."

Eddie Guest Speaks Some Pieces

His own rhymes, recited by himself, give an added interest to this spoken record by a favorite poet. There's nothing to wrinkle the brow in "Ten Little Mice" and "When Father Shakes the Store"; "She Powders Her Nose" and "The Good Little Boy." As one of his surprised auditors remarked of a speech by Daniel Webster, you'll "understand every word of it."

Olive Kline and Lucy Marsh each make a record of the kind women like to play while dusting the room and artificial lake of 40,000,000 cubic metres. The cost of the dam will be 20,000,000 Swiss francs, but with the electric installation the amount will be run over 60,000,000 francs. A total energy of 60,000 horsepower will be applied.

The work will be finished in 1926. It goes forward slowly, for at this high altitude the cold and the snow permit of only 100 working days a year.

TURN PLAY ROOMS INTO FAIRYLAND

Artist Explains How Children's Rooms Change Into Wonderland Equal to Alice's

By NEA Service. Cleveland, O., Oct. 20.—The children's play rooms in some of the homes here are real fairylands in themselves.

They are the invention of Miss Lilian Hunter, artist, who goes about transforming simple four walls into a veritable country of make-believe for the edification of the children.

Thus the tots meet little Alice in her travels through Wonderland, and their imagination is allowed to convert the creatures of the book into real human beings and animals.

For two years children and grown-ups saw Miss Hunter's illustrated play tales in a local newspaper. Their one day of the grownups asked her to paint a frieze for her children's nursery.

Stimulates Imagination. "I chose Robert Louis Stevenson's 'Young Night Thoughts and Dreams' for my first playroom," says Miss Hunter, bringing out her portfolio of sketches. "Over the mantel, I painted a shadowy picture of the land of sleep with a castle and the fireplaces stands the Black Knights in armor. Around the room are child characters from story and history—nearly 100 of them."

"Just think how it stimulates the imagination to live each day with your story book heroes. It was more successful than I dreamed it would be, for the mother of the four children who play in this room says that even her three-year-old son knows every character and can lip the story."

"Here is a Peter Rabbit nursery. I designed and painted the furniture to go in this room. There is not a tale of Peter and his friend, Benjamin Bunny, that the children do not dramatize."

"Another room which I have just finished has the whole story of Alice in Wonderland."

Tip-Top Town. "Perhaps the most elaborate piece of work I have ever done is in a house which by the strange irony of fate was sold three months after it was completed to a bachelor and his widowed mother. But I am glad to know that his neices and nephews consider one of their greatest treats is spending the day in 'uncle's playroom.'"

"It is an English village street with two houses, a theater, a store, an animal cage and a garden with a sand pile. The door to this child's paradise bears the name 'Tip-Top Town.'"

"There is no limit," Miss Hunter concludes, "to the subjects one may choose and the lessons that may be taught. The minds of little children are easily molded like the clay with which I sometimes amuse myself. Give them something to stir their imaginations and they will go on and invent all kinds of games about a story book figure, for their greatest joy is in the land of make-believe."

going about their chores. "Honey, I'll do it" has soft, smooth, cadences and dropping celesta notes. "Laddie O' Mine" is a waltz tune.

Gloom is thick on two blues records this week, the one by the usually irrepressibly exuberant Billy Murray with Ed Smalley, the other some lachrymose matter with Alleen Stanley as sob sister. "My Sweetie Went Away" is the male member's excuse for breaking down, while "I'm a Lonesome Cry Baby" by Alleen explains itself.

Some Fox-Trots and Two Waltzes

Paul Whiteman celebrates his return from foreign parts by leading his dance symphony organization through whirling piano fox-trots. "Last Night on the Back Porch" leaves something to the imagination, while "I Can't Get the Sweetie I Want" seems to make out pretty well with the one in hand.

The Benson Orchestra of Chicago makes a detour through Michigan which results in "Wolverine Blues," a fox-trot combining as its namesake, the gentle qualities of the wild-boar, tiger and hyena. "House of David Blues" by the Virginians is jazz rampant.

Two lovely waltzes round out a pleasant bill, "Roses of Picardy" by the Troubadours and "Marchia" by Green-Arden Orchestra. Both are smooth, soft and delicate, the first one made familiar some time ago by John McCormack.

STATE WITHIN GERMAN PLAN IS FORWARDED

(Continued from Page 1) "The Rhineland republic is an accomplished fact. And resistance will be crushed pitilessly. Billages and disturbances of public order will be punished with the severest of penalties."

"We shall apply all our care to the questions of food supply and work and will preserve order and peace." This proclamation was signed in the same way as the first.

No other separatist attempt has yet been reported from other portions of the occupied territory. It is reported here that Dueseldorf is tranquil.

WILL SECEDE

Petitions have been addressed to the state highway commission and to the commissions of the foregoing named counties asking recognition of the trail.

SCHOOLS PLANNED

A two-story combination high and grade school building will be built at Marion, N. D., at a cost of about $38,000. Contract for general construction has been let to Redlinger & Hansen of Wahpeton.

FINDS PRE-GLACIAL RELIC

Winnipeg, Oct. 22.—A fossilized oyster, believed by scientists to be a relic of the pre-glacial ages, has been unearthed by A. G. Shearer, plowing the top of a hill at Pope, Manitoba.

Dr. R. C. Wallace, professor of geology at the University of Manitoba, stated that, in all probability, Shearer struck a rock, carried by the ice of the glacial age and belonging to a period millions of years earlier than the ice age, as there is now neither river nor lake near Pope.

PARIS TO WELCOME REPORTERS

Paris, Oct. 22.—Newspapers all over the world will be represented at the Olympic games of 1924, now little more than six months away. The committee in charge is arranging to care for 600 reporters. Two hundred applications for telephones at the Colombes Stadium have been made already, and a hundred more are expected.

MARKET NEWS

WHEAT MART EASY TODAY

Scattered Selling Produces Quiet Tone in Early Dealings

Chicago, Oct. 22.—Scattered selling of wheat made the market easy today during the early dealings. There was no demand to speak of. Unsettled conditions in Germany and talk of an increased Russian export received considerable notice but apparently had little effect on prices. The opening which ranged from 1/4 cents decline to a like advance with December 1.05 1/2 and May 1.10 1/4 to 1/2 cents was followed by a slight upturn in some cases and then by a moderate general slack.

Subsequently corn weakness acted as something of a weight on the wheat market and so, too, did an increase in the U. S. visible supply of wheat. The close was unsettled at the same as Saturday's finish to 3-8 cents lower, with Dec. $1.05 3-8 to 1-2 and May $1.10 to $1.10 1-8.

Sheep receipts 36,000. Feeding range lambs $12.50. Most native $11.75 to $12.

80, ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK. St. Paul, Oct. 22.—Cattle receipts 14,000. Dull and uneven. And most weak to 25 cents lower. Grass fed heaves quotable $4.00 to $7.50. Best load lots of western early $6.50. Grass fat she stock largely $2.75 to $4.50. Few better offerings on up to $5.50. Canners

These few pieces of twisted wood and steel tell the story of the recent sensational Southern Pacific holdup in a tunnel near Ashland, Ore. CRAZE FOR FOOTBALL HITS GERMAN YOUTH
 Sport Was Formerly Considered Too Rough in Fatherland

Heidelberg, Germany, Oct. 22.—Many buildings in Germany which prior to 1914 were used for making implements of war, ammunition or devoted to turning out supplies for the army, are now manufacturing sporting articles for the various games which are more popular today than at any other time in Germany's history. The craze for out door sports has reached proportions never dreamed of in pre-war days.

Football, formerly considered by Germans as being too rough, has become one of the most popular games among school boys and college men. Every small town now has its athletic union, including a football team, and meets are held regularly all summer and most of the winter. The passion for out door sports has even invaded the country districts, and the youngsters of the peasant village much prefer hand ball or football to helping their parents in the fields.

The sport rage is attributed to the campaign launched in 1919 for the amusement of the thousands of young men who in former times spent years in Germany's big army. Today the newspapers devote pages and sections, exclusively for sports, and there are many sporting journals in Berlin and other cities. Tennis is played extensively, but football has made the rapid strides for its growing popularity, and the factories are working overtime endeavoring to supply the unprecedented demand for "puggles."

Women Ready To Help Disabled Vets

London, Oct. 22.—Thousands of men and women throughout the United States will take an active part in the coming "National Forget Me Not Day" of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, according to National Adjutant Raymond A. Laszlo.

The splendid success of last year's "National Forget Me Not Day" drive will be overshadowed this year, Mr. Laszlo says, when the campaign will be opened Saturday, November 10, in every city and town in the United States. Prominent national, state and civic officials have already guaranteed their support and active participation in the disabled veterans' "Day," when public-spirited citizens all over the United States

BRITONS SEE HOPE IN RUSS
 Brother of Prime Minister Relates Story of Hope For Northland

London, Oct. 22.—"The general impression we have brought back as to the recovery of Russia is one of hope," is the statement of F. L. Baldwin, a brother of the British prime minister and the leader of a party of British business men who have just returned from an investigation of trading prospects in Russia.

"Recovery will be a long job," Mr. Baldwin continued, "unless the Russian government gets some outside help, but, if it cannot, I am still confident it can pull through unaided. It is working unaided now and the general economic conditions are not too bad."

"I gathered the peasant is fairly contented and, after all, he is the bulk of the population. As to the factory workers, they are all paid on a piece work basis and are working harder than they did before the war. Much hand power has been conserved in Russia for agricultural machinery, so the country has been benefited with regard to agricultural and factory work. On our way from Moscow to Petrograd we saw many men repairing with hand tools."

"Undoubtedly there is a trade opening in Russia for agricultural machinery, and also for all things connected with transport, both railway and motor. The Russians are asking also for such things as sawmill plants and mining materials, while there is an abnormal demand for the ordinary necessities of life. The Russians, as a matter of fact, want about fifty times as much as they are getting."

Use Gas Masks For Auto Goggles

Paris, Oct. 22.—Automobile goggles advertised for sale for ten centimes each or a little over 170 to the dollar at the present rate of exchange, recently brought a rushing business to a second hand store on the left bank of the Seine, and caused much speculation as to how, in these days, any manufacturer could place such an article on the market at the derisive price.

A former police solved the riddle. The goggles had been cleverly cut out from the original gas masks issued hurriedly to the French army

HUNTERS SUFFER ACCIDENTS

Paris, Oct. 22.—The hunting season has opened in France, and already the list of accidents is unusually long and grows steadily. Not a few accidents are fatal.

One member of the Chamber of Deputies has given notice that he will introduce a bill requiring that would-be hunters pass an examination in the handling of the shotgun before the necessary license is issued.

Women Ready To Help Disabled Vets

London, Oct. 22.—Thousands of men and women throughout the United States will take an active part in the coming "National Forget Me Not Day" of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, according to National Adjutant Raymond A. Laszlo.

The splendid success of last year's "National Forget Me Not Day" drive will be overshadowed this year, Mr. Laszlo says, when the campaign will be opened Saturday, November 10, in every city and town in the United States. Prominent national, state and civic officials have already guaranteed their support and active participation in the disabled veterans' "Day," when public-spirited citizens all over the United States

PITY THE STATE MILL

The North Dakota State Flour mill at Grand Forks, now in the process of building up its business, is in for a hard time. When the responsibility of building the mill was on the hands of the Nonpartisan League Industrial Commission political attacks were launched by the opposition. Now that the mill is being operated under the present administration, Nonpartisan league newspapers are beginning an evident effort to make political capital out of the mill management for the next campaign.

The manager, C. E. Austin, with an eye to business, according to his explanation, bought a small quantity of Canadian wheat. The Nonpartisan League convention here, in one breath took the attitude that it should do nothing to interfere with good business administration of the mill and voted down an amendment to a resolution condemning this purchase. In the next breath after politicians saw the fatal error, politically, of condoning the purchase, the league convention adopted an amendment condemning the purchase.

One proposal before the league convention was that Mr. Austin be highly praised and the board of managers be condemned, the idea of course being an effort to make political capital by declaring the administration was hampering Mr. Austin. Again the attitude of the body was changed. It struck from the resolution the praise of Mr. Austin and by condemning his purchase of Canadian wheat attacked both board and him.

The same is true of the purchase of flour for state institutions. Any purchases from other than the state mill are condemned, for political purposes, although there had been pledges on both sides that the mill would be conducted purely as a business institution, meeting all competitors squarely on their own ground.

The Grand Forks mill will be taken out of politics only when it is taken out of the state's hands.

AN EFFICIENT PLAN

The method of supervising the liquidation of closed banks of the state, as outlined by L. R. Baird, named general receiver in the state, is a step in the right direction. Mr. Baird proposes to have district receivers, to employ collectors and other staff men who may be shifted from one bank to another, or from one district of the state to another. He proposes, where there are two closed banks in one town, to administer them under one head. The general intent of the plan is to centralize the receivership business in the interest of both economy and efficiency.

Too often receiverships leave only the walls of the building of an institution standing. Mr. Baird's plan offers hope that the greatest salvage possible will be made out of the situation.

COST OF LIVING

Cost of living is higher than ever before in history, according to various leading organizations of economists. It merely means that the buying power of the dollar has sagged. The brain of man—which conceived radio, X-ray and the airplane (the three greatest inventions from an imaginative standpoint)—surely is capable of finding a way to stabilize the buying power of the dollar. That would put a stop to these habitual periods of soaring prices, alternating in cycles with crashing prices. In other words, end the retention of excessive prosperity and excessive depression. The plain people would prefer a happy medium, constant.

TIME FOR INVESTMENT

Investment securities are "on the bargain counter at enormous and almost unparalleled returns" on the money invested," but there seems to be no money for investment among the rank and file of people, mourns the New York banker, Jules S. Bache.

There never was a better time for saving and investing money. Be a wise squirrel. The buying power of the dollar stands a good chance of returning to normal—practically doubling—before 1950. The dollar saved now may be worth $2 later, in buying power.

WEATHER CHANGES

The sun crossed the equator, going south, late in September. That was the astronomical equinox, bringing the customary storms. These storms gradually extend their field of activity southward following the sun. Then comes winter, which is nature's reminder that the change called death is merely a sleep with a rebirth to life to follow in the spring.

Old people usually dread winter. It is symbolic of death.

MEDAL TO PARENTS OF 33

Considering the high cost of living, medals should be struck off and pinned on these people.

In Bay City, Mich., a rag-picker named Charles L. Lucius is the father of 33 children.

In San Diego, Calif., Mrs. F. Cecena at the age of 37 recently gave birth to her twenty-fifth baby. Her offspring included two sets of twins and one of triplets.

OPPORTUNITY FOR INVENTOR

Rust destroys 30 million tons of iron and steel a year, investigation by steel makers shows. Golden opportunity here for inventors to develop rust-proofing processes.

Incidentally, 30 million tons is more than all the pig iron made in our country last year. Everything wears out in time and requires replacing. That helps bring prosperity by keeping producers busy.

BOOTLEGGERS' INSURANCE

Bootleggers have found insurance companies that give them policies to pay their court fines when arrested. So claims W. M. Forgrave, Anti-Saloon League agent in Massachusetts.

As yet, no company has come forward with a special policy to protect the thirsty people who take a chance on drinking the bootleggers' hooch. Maybe the risk is too great.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

"Come here!" beckoned Mister Dodger to the Twins. "What do you make of this?"

Nancy and Nick crouched low beside the fairman where they could see and hear, but where they could not be seen themselves.

But they need not have been afraid for the chickens were having an argument, and when people are trying to show that everybody else is wrong and nobody is right but themselves, they don't bother much about outsiders.

Mr. Buff Orpington was speaking. "Why all you've got to do is to ask Farmer Brown," she cackled. "He had me at the County Fair in a cage with wire over the front, with a card on it that told all about me. I'm the finest hen on the farm. My ancestors date back as far as the first hay stack in the county and my blood is as blue as rinse water on washing day."

"Oh goodness!" cackled Misses Plymouth Rock. "Blue blood! My goodness! Didn't my ancestors come over in the Mayflower and land at Plymouth Rock! Don't talk to me about the blood!"

"Speaking of blood," put in Misses Bantam. "My great grandfather was the most famous game-cock in America. He won the biggest cock-fight ever held on this side of the ocean."

"Humph!" sniffed Misses Black Minorca. "That's something to be ashamed of, not proud of. I shouldn't boast of it if I were you, Misses Bantam. But they do say that small people are always talking of their own importance. You'd make pretty poor picking when it came to a meal."

Misses Rhode Island Red spoke up majestically at this: "Yes, I should say so! When it comes to showing one's board and keep, I flatter myself that I have some meat on my bones. Besides my eggs are larger and finer than any in Squeaky-Moo Land. I have heard Farmer Brown say so, and besides I have eyes in my own head."

"Well, of all things!" put in Misses White Leghorn. "As though I didn't have the record for laying! White Leghorns are the best laying hens in the world."

At that minute Mister Dodger stepped into the circle and pointed to little Misses Brown Hen, who had no name at all, and hadn't said a word.

"Look here, ladies," he said, "you're all wrong. Here is the Champion Egg Layer of Squeaky-Moo Land! She's too modest to boast, but she hasn't missed a day since last Christmas and she has no ancestors to speak of, either. She cuts less and works harder than any one I know."

And what do you think, my dears? Those hens all crowded around and apologized. They were kind-hearted in spite of their foolishness. (To Be Continued)

EVERETT TRUE BY CONDO

BREWSTER, YOU DON'T TALK TO THE POINT YOU EVADE. YOU DON'T ANSWER MY QUESTION.

ALL RIGHT, I'LL ANSWER YOUR QUESTION BY ASKING YOU ANOTHER ONE.

AND I'LL ANSWER IT BY ASKING YOU ANOTHER ONE: SINCE WHEN DID TWO QUESTIONS MAKE ONE ANSWER?

WE LIVE IN NORTH DAKOTA

For the first time in our history as a state the live stock products have exceeded the wheat crop, according to figures given out from the agricultural college last week. This would indicate that North Dakota is fast becoming a dairy state. Another source of revenue which is not exploited so much in general is our enormous quantities of lignite coal. Now the Berthold reservation is right in the midst of these resources. Our farming is coming to be more diversified each year, with substantial additions of fine dairy and beef cattle and hogs.

The very latest industry attributed to North Dakota is bee culture. And more than that. We are raising a better variety. Government statistics go to show that in other states the average production of a swarm of bees is 49 pounds of honey, while in North Dakota the average is more than 140. It is hard for a common mortal to account for this, unless it be that we have more sunshine during the growing season than any other state in the union. The prized sunshine produces a better variety of nectar in the flowers and the bees may also be said to have a little longer working day.

It is also a fact that cattle thrive better in North Dakota for much the same reason. In North Dakota grasses are said to have more food value than in other states. The air both winter and summer, is more dry and cattle and hogs are much less subject to disease. There being very little dampness comparatively less insects and flies during the summer are encountered.

Iowa has always been pointed to as the ideal dairy and hog state. But the more we know about Iowa and the more we know about North Dakota, the more we know about the afternoon frost—added to the individual character of some of the dresses this season.

So Far, So Good

that North Dakota has everything found in Iowa and a whole lot more. They say that if Iowa farmers should feed their cattle the way most of the North Dakota farmers do the cattle wouldn't last out the year. On the other hand, if the North Dakota farmers would feed the way Iowa farmers do they would have the finest cattle and hogs in the world. Freight rates in shipping cattle to market would have no terrors as our superior article would demand a fancy price.

North Dakota is not done with farming. It is just beginning to know. Sing your happy song, boys; farming in North Dakota and the reservation is the coming industry.—Van Hook Reporter.

Choosing a Wife

By JUSTIN WENTWOOD

"But surely you won't disinherited your son just because he wants to marry the girl of his choice?"

Colonel Weir turned his blue eyes upon Miss Madeleine Raines. "I shall do just that," he answered.

At fifty-five the colonel was still an attractive man. He was a martinet; he believed in home discipline. And his son Phil had become engaged without his leave to an actress.

Colonel Weir had old-fashioned ideas about actresses, and he was inordinately proud of the Weir name.

He was pouring out his grief to Miss Raines. She was an extraordinarily attractive girl whom he had met at the beach hotel, where he had gone for a week to recuperate from the shock of the breach with Phil.

And he had found such consolation as had not been his since his wife died, many years before.

He did not want to marry Madeleine Raines. He was too old for that. But he would have liked to have had her about him in some capacity, for the rest of his days.

"If only the boy had had the sense to have chosen someone like you, Madeleine!" he sighed.

He called her that now, and she called him Harry. It was one of those delightful, quick intimacies that spring up between the young and the middle-aged.

"But, Harry, you haven't even seen this girl. I understand some actresses are quite charming," protested Madeleine.

"My dear, there has never yet been a member of the stage in the Weir family, and there never shall be with my consent. Either my son gives up this association or he ceases to be a son of mine."

Madeleine sighed. She felt that the colonel was unjust. And she liked the colonel.

"I've given him till Monday to make up his mind finally," he continued. "If he's coming down then, and you shall see him for yourself. But I guess that actress woman won't want him when she learns that he's to be disinherited if he marries him."

"Do you think all women are like that, Harry?" asked Miss Raines softly.

"Most of 'em," answered the colonel.

"And me?" queried Miss Raines. How it happened the colonel knew afterward, but he found that he had kissed Miss Raines, and that he had affronted her beyond pardon.

"She rose to her feet, icy and pale. 'I thought you were a gentleman, Colonel Weir,' she said.

She received the colonel's stammering apologies in silence. "Isn't there anything I can do to win forgiveness?" he asked.

"It isn't a matter of forgiveness. You have shown me your opinion of me—oh, quite, quite plainly, Colonel Weir. You think I'm like a—like an actress, and that any man can kiss me."

"I respect you beyond every woman I've ever met. Miss Raines, I—I will you marry me!" he blurted out, overcome by emotion.

Madeleine shook her head sadly. "You have convinced me, Harry," she said, "but—but there's another man—"

"D—n!" muttered the colonel under his breath.

"But I'll always be a daughter to you, if you want me," she said, as they neared the hotel.

Colonel Weir heaved a prodigious sigh. He slept unhappily. He knew his proposal had been a foolish thing, but life without Madeleine seemed the essence of boredom and loneliness.

Then Monday came. The colonel, waiting to receive his son, showed no signs of the emotional storm he had been through. His relationship with Miss Raines had been a formal one since that unlucky episode. He stiffened as he saw Phil coming toward him.

"Well, dad?"

"Well, Phil, what's the answer?" "The same, dad."

"Then there's nothing more to say," said the colonel, turning away. A soft voice at his side arrested him. "Colonel, for my sake won't you let Phil marry the girl of his choice?" pleaded Madeleine.

"Not even for you. He—why—why, what's this?" he demanded. For Madeleine had slipped her arm through Phil's.

"I—I said I'd be a daughter to you," she faltered.

"You—you d—d young scoundrel, Phil! You—why—let's all go in to lunch."

Social and Personal

New Club Holds First Meeting With Mrs. W. H. Bodensab

The first meeting of the newly organized Wednesday Study club which was incorporated with the Federation of Women's clubs at Jamestown recently will be held Wednesday at the home of its president, Mrs. W. H. Bodensab. It will be in the nature of a 1 o'clock luncheon and social afternoon.

The club was organized to meet the need felt among the women for a new study club. Their program for the year is miscellaneous. It offers a wide variety in interests, ranging from a study of the motion picture industry and short story writing to immigration, home economics, and a discussion of national military defense, in addition to some of the more strictly literary topics suitable to a club program of this sort.

A rather complete and detailed study of the moving picture industry has been placed upon the program by the club women because of its closeness of this subject to the welfare of the home life of the community.

The works of some of the best short story writers as Kipling, Bret Hart, Fannie Hurst, and others will be considered under this topic while the works of modern poets, including several of the best known poets of the war period; the autobiographies of Lady Astor and Queen Marie of Rumania, and others closely related will be studied.

Another interesting subject on the program is a study of modern novelists, English and American including Joseph Conrad, Gertrude Atherton, Edith Wharton, Henry James.

The aims of the world court will be taken up and a discussion of national defense, with particular emphasis on the advisability of disarmament. Modern Italian, as D'Annunzio, home economics, and the economic independence of women, have been placed upon the club's program for the season.

Probably one of the most vital and interesting subjects which will be considered by the women will be the much discussed topic of "Shall a married woman have a career?"

Officers of the newly organized club are: Mrs. W. H. Bodensab, president; Mrs. C. E. Stackhouse, vice president; Mrs. H. T. Perry, secretary; and Mrs. Spencer Boise, treasurer.

Members of the program committee are: Mrs. Boise chairman, Mrs. Frank Shepard, and Mrs. W. E. Cole; Members of the entertainment committee include: Mrs. P. C. Remington, chairman, Mrs. W. E. Laehr, and Mrs. L. E. Birdzell, Mrs. S. Johnson will represent the club at the meetings of the Woman's Community Council during the first half of the year and Mrs. Burt Finney the second half.

The entire membership of the club includes the following women: Mmes. H. T. Perry, L. E. Birdzell, Bodensab, Boise, Cole, Henry, S. Johnson, C. F. Kellogg, W. E. Laehr, P. C. Remington, Frank Shepard, and C. E. Stackhouse.

The club meets on Wednesday every two weeks.

Heusted-Hamilton Take Nuptial Vows

At the home of Mrs. O. B. Lund, 728 Ninth street occurred the wedding Saturday evening of Clawson L. Heusted and Miss Opal B. Hamilton, both of Steele with Rev. S. F. Halfyard of the McCabe Methodist church officiating. The marriage took place in the presence of immediate relatives of the bride couple. The bridegroom is a nephew of Mrs. O. B. Lund and Mrs. Emil Anderson of this city. After a short time spent in Bismarck Mr. and Mrs. Heusted will return to Steele where they will make their home.

Tag Day Net Result $141.84

Tag-day for the Salvation Army netted $141.84. Miss Myrtle Wilson won first prize, bringing in $36.20. Mary Jane Whittey, second with $26.13, and Ruby Ayland, $11.65.

Total subscriptions to date including pledges is $1,900. The campaign is not closed as there are quite a number of people to be seen who happened to be out when called on. It is hoped by those who have worked hard to make the campaign a success that the budget of $3,000 will ultimately be raised. The county will be organized so that friends of the Army may have an opportunity to do their bit.

ATTENDS MEETING. Judge L. C. Davies attended a meeting of the Hazelton Odd Fellows lodge Saturday night, and was at Wilton the night before. He reported both cities would send good delegations to Bismarck for the district meeting to be held Tuesday night. Hazelton will send two past grand masters of the state, Rev. B. A. Fahl and H. A. Armstrong and C. E. Green of this city will make the third past grand master expected to be present. Odd Fellows from several towns will be present for the meeting.

Wherever shall we be clothed for those hours of the day spent within the walls of home and the bosom of the family—or other intimates? It all depends upon how we must occupy ourselves during these hours and therefore designers of negligees have made a wide variety of garments, keeping in mind that it is the mission of such apparel to be decorative and cheerful. Inspiration is drawn from many sources; for the fancy of creators has a free range when it roams in search of ideas.

For the first hours of the day nothing has superseded the light-colored breakfast coats of silk (usually taffeta) adorned with ruffles and frills of silk or of lace. Of course the graceful, side tie fastening was appropriated by the makers of negligees, and it proves an additional attraction in these dainty coats. Darker silks are chosen for pullman robes and they are rivaled by mercerized cotton corduroy in the better qualities. One of these is shown in the picture and serves the same purpose as the breakfast coat or the kimono. These corduroys make very handsome robes and coats, with the suppleness and luster of silk, and they sell at a low price. They are shown in such rich shades as rose, old purple, French blue and henna, and some of them have thin, silky linings, matching them in color.

In more pretentious negligees of georgette, crepe de chine, limited lace and the like, designers follow classic lines in the silhouette and are devoted to the long and graceful wing sleeve. Pale colors are used and new style points appear in side draperies or draperies drawn to the middle of the front, in the Egyptian manner.

the title role gives a performance that will make new friends for him. He fairly electrifies with the intensity of his work. Barbara La Marr as the girl who nearly ruins his life—the languorous, soft spoken feminine Janus—has a role that gives her ample opportunity to demonstrate her histrionic powers. Begbie Love, the winsome one, completes the triangle. Others in the cast include Warner Baxter, Nigel De Bruin, and Lydia Knott. Jerome Storm directed the picture, which was adapted by Jules Furthman.

THE SYNOPSIS
When Douglas Fairbanks began his great new production, "Douglas Fairbanks in Robin Hood," his latest photoplay for United Artists release, and which is coming to the Eltinge Theatre today the first scene shot was an interior, and Paul Dickey, playing Sir Guy of Gisbourne, the villain, killed a man nine times. It all happened in Richard Coeur de Lion's tent, on the road to the Holy Land with the Third Crusade.

This tent was an "all-drape set," combining the principles brought out by Gordon Craig in England, Max Reinhardt in Berlin and Robert Jones in this country—representing the world's greatest triumph of stage decorators. In spite of the fact that this set was forty feet deep, forty feet wide and twenty-four feet high it was put up in two hours.

"In starting this production," said Allan Dwan, who directed Mr. Fairbanks in this feature, "we felt much as we did when we went to the Grand Canyon several years ago to make scenes for 'The Modern Musketeer.' We didn't undertake to photograph the canyon at once—it was too big. So we played around the corals for the first few days, photographing scenes featuring the horses and mules. Finally we got up courage enough to take a crack at the canyon.

"That's the way it was in starting on this new spectacle. At first we thought we would crash right into one of the big scenes showing a thousand knights in armor lined up for a tournament. But this undertaking was so big that it staggered us. So instead we decided to photograph the scene in Richard's tent, which we figured would give us courage enough to try one of the big outdoor shots showing the resplendent knights with their plumed helmets and flashing armor."

The magnitude of this feature is such that several months were required in which to "shoot" it.

Devine Speaks At Lion's Club

J. M. Devine, commissioner of Immigration, was the speaker of the day at the meeting of the Lion's club noon day luncheon today. He discussed the resources of North Dakota, emphasizing the possibilities of generating electricity at the mouth of mines and to be sent out as a product over the state.

He also spoke of the value of corn as a product to aid in the diversification of farming. He said that an order for 8,000 bushels of corn to be used in Alberta, Canada had been received by Will Seed company.

Hem Is Variable. So Is Waistline

The sliding waistline and the variable hem are the latest complications of the fashionable life.

The sliding waistline is the waistline that refuses to stay put. It may be high in front and low in back. It may be the other way around. It may be high above one hip and way below the other. And there is no guarantee that it will stay anywhere. It appears and disappears at will. Only one thing you can be sure of—no one has any more authority to say which way it should slide than you have yourself.

Then the hem! Paris says that most dresses are long—to the ankle and just above. But many of the leading dressmakers, even in Paris, are showing them nine inches from the floor and sometimes even shorter. The thing to do seems to be to choose what is becoming and then insist that it is correct. Nobody will ever be able to contradict you.

Bonham Brothers Optometrists

Authorities agree that approximately fifty percent of the inhabitants of this country are always in need of an eye service. This means that five in every ten people are deficient visually to an extent that would justify their consulting the Optometrist.

Of course a great many of these are people who have reached an age when their eyes naturally begin to lose their power to focus near work. But many thousands of younger folks are handicapped tremendously by defective vision.

And as before stated, the regrettable feature is the fact that many of them are unaware of their condition.

To be continued next Thursday.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

PITY THE STATE MILL

The North Dakota State Flour mill at Grand Forks, now in the process of building up its business, is in for a hard time. When the responsibility of building the mill was on the hands of the Nonpartisan League Industrial Commission political attacks were launched by the opposition. Now that the mill is being operated under the present administration, Nonpartisan league newspapers are beginning an evident effort to make political capital out of the mill management for the next campaign.

The manager, C. E. Austin, with an eye to business, according to his explanation, bought a small quantity of Canadian wheat. The Nonpartisan League convention here, in one breath took the attitude that it should do nothing to interfere with good business administration of the mill and voted down an amendment to a resolution condemning the purchase. In the next breath after politicians saw the fatal error, politically, of condoning the purchase, the league convention adopted an amendment condemning the purchase.

One proposal before the league convention was that Mr. Austin be highly praised and the board of managers be condemned, the idea of course being an effort to make political capital by declaring the administration was hampering Mr. Austin. Again the attitude of the body was changed. It struck from the resolution the praise of Mr. Austin and by condemning his purchase of Canadian wheat attacked both board and him.

The same is true of the purchase of flour for state institutions. Any purchases from other than the state mill are condemned, for political purposes, although there had been pledges on both sides that the mill would be conducted purely as a business institution, meeting all competitors squarely on their own ground.

The Grand Forks mill will be taken out of politics only when it is taken out of the state's hands.

AN EFFICIENT PLAN

The method of supervising the liquidation of closed banks of the state, as outlined by L. R. Baird, named general receiver in the state, is a step in the right direction. Mr. Baird proposes to have district receivers, to employ collectors and other staff men who may be shifted from one bank to another, or from one district of the state to another. He proposes, where there are two closed banks in one town, to administer them under one head. The general intent of the plan is to centralize the receivership business in the interest of both economy and efficiency.

Too often receiverships leave only the walls of the building of an institution standing. Mr. Baird's plan offers hope that the greatest salvage possible will be made out of the situation.

COST OF LIVING

Cost of living is higher than ever before in history, according to various leading organizations of economists. It merely means that the buying power of the dollar has sagged. The brain of man—which conceived radio, X-ray and the airplane (the three greatest inventions from an imaginative standpoint)—surely is capable of finding a way to stabilize the buying power of the dollar. That would put a stop to these habitual periods of soaring prices, alternating in cycles with crashing prices. In other words, end the retention of excessive prosperity and excessive depression. The plain people would prefer a happy medium, constant.

TIME FOR INVESTMENT

Investment securities are "on the bargain counter at enormous and almost unparalleled returns" on the money invested," but there seems to be no money for investment among the rank and file of people, mourns the New York banker, Jules S. Bache.

There never was a better time for saving and investing money. Be a wise squirrel. The buying power of the dollar stands a good chance of returning to normal—practically doubling—before 1930. The dollar saved now may be worth $2 later, in buying power.

WEATHER CHANGES

The sun crossed the equator, going south, late in September. That was the astronomical equinox, bringing the customary storms. These storms gradually extend their field of activity southward following the sun. Then comes winter, which is nature's reminder that the change called death is merely a sleep with a rebirth to life to follow in the spring.

Old people usually dread winter. It is symbolic of death.

MEDAL TO PARENTS OF 33

Considering the high cost of living, medals should be "ruck off and pinned on these people."

In Bay City, Mich., a rag-picker named Charles L. Lucius is the father of 33 children.

In San Diego, Calif., Mrs. F. Cecena at the age of 37 recently gave birth to her twenty-fifth baby. Her offspring included two sets of twins and one of triplets.

OPPORTUNITY FOR INVENTOR

Rust destroys 80 million tons of iron and steel a year, investigation by steel makers shows. Golden opportunity here for inventors to develop rust-proofing processes.

Incidentally, 80 million tons is more than all the pig iron made in our country last year. Everything wears out in time and requires replacing. That helps bring prosperity by keeping producers busy.

BOOTLEGGERS' INSURANCE

Buttleggers have found insurance companies that give them policies to pay their court fines when arrested. So claims W. M. Forgrave, Anti-Saloon League agent in Massachusetts.

As yet, no company has come forward with a special policy to protect the thirsty people who take a chance on drinking the bootleggers' hooch. Maybe the risk is too great.

We can hardly wait for the newspaper these fall days to see who is shot or arrested.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

"Come here!" beckoned Mister Dodger to the twins. "What do you make of this?"

Nancy and Nick crunched low beside the fountain where they could not be seen themselves.

But they need not have been afraid, for the chickens were having an argument, and when people are trying to show that everybody else is wrong and nobody is right but themselves, they don't bother much about outsiders.

Mrs. Buff Orpington was speaking. "Why all you've got to do is to ask Farmer Brown," she cackled. "My goodness! Didn't my ancestors come over on the Mayflower and land at Plymouth Rock? Don't talk to me about the blood!"

"Speaking of blood," put in Misses Bantam, "My great grandfather was the most famous game-cock in America. He won the biggest cock-fight ever held on this side of the ocean."

"Humph," sniffed Misses Black Minors. "That's something to be ashamed of, not proud of. I shouldn't boast of it if I were you, Misses Bantam. But they do say that small people are always talking of their own importance. You'd make pretty poor picking when it came to a meal."

Misses Rhode Island Red spoke up majestically at that. "When it comes to showing one's board and keep, I flatter myself that I have some meat on my bones. Besides my eggs are large—and finer than any in Squeaky-Moo Land. I have heard Farmer Brown say so, and besides I have eyes in my own head."

"Well, of all things," put in Misses White Leghorns, "as though I didn't have the record for laying! White Leghorns are the best laying hens in the world."

At that minute Mister Dodger stepped into the circle and pointed to little Misses Brown Hen, who had no name at all, and hadn't said a word.

"Look here, ladies," he said quite-

ly. "You're all wrong. Here is the Champion Egg Layer of Squeaky-Moo Land! She's too modest to boast, but she hasn't missed a day since last Christmas and she has no ancestors to speak of, either. She eats less and works harder than any one I know."

And what do you think, my dears? Those hens all crowded around and apologized. They were kind-hearted in spite of their foolishness. (To Be Continued)

The Tangle

Almost as an inspiration, when I saw how terribly Mr. Corcoran felt at my father's illness, I told him that I had come to him to find out where I could obtain some money on my pearls.

"Do you want to borrow money my dear," he asked. "If you do, of course I will lend it to you."

"No, I do not, dear Mr. Corcoran, but you know at the time of my marriage I was given a very wonderful string of pearls."

"I didn't know it, child."

"Well, of course, if I had were well as I am with these. You see, Mr. Corcoran, the expenses of my illness have been very great and Jack has just lost a large sum of money through a friend. I don't want to ask him for any money because he needs every cent to make good his friend's delinquency."

"Consequently I thought that I could sell two or three of these jewels and help Jack a little."

"But I would give you the money, Leslie," said Mr. Corcoran. "Why do you insist upon selling these pretty baubles?"

"I wouldn't feel right to borrow the money of you, Mr. Corcoran. I would much rather sell them."

"Well, I will do it if you wish me to, although I think you are rather foolish. Did your father give you this string of pearls?"

"No."

"I thought he didn't. I didn't remember them among the wedding presents."

"I was wearing them at my wedding, perhaps you will remember."

"No, dear, I was only looking at your own sweet face."

"I didn't think your mother would make you such an expensive present," he said musingly.

"She didn't," I answered, and then very sorry I spoke as I saw the glance Mr. Corcoran gave me.

Then without thinking I told a great big lie. "Earl Whitney gave them to me," I said.

that North Dakota has everything found in Iowa and whole lot more. ### Choosing a Wife

By JUSTIN WENTWOOD

"But surely you won't disinherit your son just because he wants to marry the girl of his choice?"

Colonel Weir turned his blue eyes upon Miss Madeleine Raines. "I shall do just that," he answered.

At fifty-five the colonel was still an attractive man. He was a martinet; he believed in home discipline. And his son Phil had become engaged without his leave to an actress.

Colonel Weir had old-fashioned ideas about actresses, and he was indignantly proud of the Weir name.

He was pouring out his grief to Miss Raines. She was an extraordinarily attractive girl whom he had met at the beach hotel, where he had gone for a week to recuperate from the shock of the breach with Phil.

And he had found such consolation as had not been his since his wife died, many years before.

He did not want to marry Madeleine Raines. He was too old for that. But he would have liked to have had her about him in some capacity, for the rest of his days.

"It only the boy had had the sense to have chosen someone like you, Madeleine," he sighed.

He called her that now, and she called him Harry. It was one of those delightful, quick intimacies that spring up between the young and the middle-aged.

"But, Harry, you haven't even seen this child. I understand some actresses are quite charming," protested Madeleine.

"My dear, there has never yet been a member of the stage in the Weir family, and there never shall be with my connivance. Either my son gives up this association or he ceases to be a son of mine."

Madeleine sighed. She felt that the colonel was unjust. And she liked the colonel.

"I've given him till Monday to make up his mind finally," she continued. "He's coming down then, and you shall see him for yourself. But I guess that actress won't want him when she learns that he's a Weir."

"Does you think all women are like that, Harry?" asked Miss Raines softly.

"Most of 'em," answered the colonel.

"And me?" queried Miss Raines. "How it happened the colonel never knew afterward, but he found that he had kissed Miss Raines, and that he had affronted her beyond pardon."

She rose to her feet, icy and pale. "I thought you were a gentleman, Colonel Weir," she said.

She received the colonel's stammering apologies in silence. "Isn't there anything I can do to win forgiveness?" he asked.

"It isn't a matter of forgiveness. You have shown me your opinion of me, and I can't quite plainly."

Colonel Weir. You think I'm like a man who can kiss me."

"I respect you beyond every woman I've ever met. Miss Raines, I will marry you if you will."

"—will you marry me?" he blurted out, overcome by emotion.

Madeleine shook her head sadly. "You have convinced me, Harry," she said, "but there's another man—"

"D—n!" muttered the colonel under his breath.

"But I'll always be a daughter to you, if you'll let me," she said, as she turned to the door.

Colonel Weir heard a prodigious sigh. He slept unhappily. He knew his proposal had been a foolish thing, but life without Madeleine seemed the essence of boredom and loneliness.

Then Monday came. The colonel, waiting to receive his son, showed no signs of the emotional storm he had been through. His relationship with Miss Raines had been a formal one since that unlucky episode. He stiffened as he saw Phil coming toward him.

"Well, dear!"

"Well, Phil, what's the answer?" "The same, dad."

"Then there's nothing more to say," said the colonel, turning away.

A soft voice at his side arrested him. "You let Phil marry the girl of his choice?" pleaded Madeleine.

"Not even for you. He—why—why, what's this?" he demanded.

For Madeleine had slipped her arm through Phil's.

"I'd be a daughter to you," she faltered.

"You—you—d—d young secondhand. Phil! You—why—let's all go in to lunch."

BITS OF HERMINE.—Touches of white ermine—at the cuffs, the collar, or other significant spots of the afternoon frock—add to the individual character of some of the dresses this season.

Esther Somers looked at Levering at her side, as if he were a stranger.

And the present seemed so unreal that it obliterated the unreal past, and for the first time she saw herself judging herself with clarity.

The die was cast. After five years of married life she was leaving her husband.

And she thought of the vain regrets of those five years, and had the little town she could not once more.

It was too late. Everything had been arranged. Levering and she were on board the train, bound for Washington on their way south. At that moment Somers was approaching the little town on the local, a returning commuter. He would return to find his home desolate, and the letter Esther had left for him.

To add to the poignancy, the train on which Esther and Levering were speeding passed within a hundred yards of their home.

The station from which they had started to avoid observation—was 12 miles away. Levering had met her and motored her over there in his car. Now there was a deep way, and across the familiar view of the home town was coming in sight.

Somers was almost due. Perhaps their train would pass him.

And Esther looked at the man beside her, letting her hand rest on his shoulder. He was so passive in his last days, and she had thought she felt for him she was conscious of intense revulsion.

Levering had been Somers' best friend. He had grossly betrayed him. She tried to picture the scene when her husband got home and found her letter.

He would be stunned by it. Although they had never got along well together, he had not dreamed his wife would ever leave him—least of all with another man. He would not believe it then? Would he pursue, to execute a dramatic vengeance upon them? She did not know. She had never understood her husband.

But she felt guilty, guilty, and she looked at Levering beside her with dismay and disgust and horror.

Was it too late? Could she not yet reverse her decision? If she had not left that letter behind, her any plausible excuse might have sufficed for easy-going, unsuspecting Dick.

Now it was hopeless. Somers was almost due at the station. That must be his train whistling.

Suddenly there came a grinding of the brakes, shouts, confusion. The roof of the compartment seemed to be falling in on her. There was a moment of horror—then Esther knew no more.

She awoke to find herself in the debris of the wreck. Hands were raising her. She was lifted to her feet. She had been momentarily stunned. But she was otherwise uninjured. Seeing this, they left her to attend to the others.

She leaned, sick and dizzy, against an end of a carriage. What was that form that they were carrying out? Levering? Stone dead? She cast a glance of horror at the mangled body, and then turned away.

A train had run into them—the local, she heard somebody say. She listened without comprehending, but lifting her eyes, she saw her home, her own home, a hundred yards away.

The two trains had collided almost immediately in front of it. Some one was touching her arm. She looked at him vacantly; she recognized one of the neighbors.

"We've found your husband, Mrs. Somers," he said. "He isn't badly hurt."

He drew her away. She saw Dick sitting upon a stretcher. One of his arms had been roughly bandaged.

"Hello, old girl," he slurred her. "Not badly damaged?"

And then of a sudden, Dick's local with which the express had collided. Levering's death had wiped out all the past, and Dick imagined that she had come down to find him. No one had seen her leave the town in Levering's motor.

"We'll take him straight to the hospital, Mrs. Somers," some one was saying.

She knew a prayer of thankfulness. There was only the letter torn, and that could be destroyed. She fell upon her knees beside her husband.

"Oh, it's so merciful, she sobbed. "I'm glad, Dick. I'm glad."

NOTRE DAME WINS LAURELS IN FOOTBALL

Saturday's Victory Over Princeton an Impressive One For Catholic University

IOWA IS DEFEATED

Chicago, Oct. 22.—Notre Dame university took the spotlight in college football today, as a result of the 25 to 2 beating handed Princeton Saturday in the second successive inter-collegiate game of the Indiana school. The Catholics launched a bewildering series of end-circling runs and forward passes against Princeton, making four touchdowns. Princeton got but four first downs. Princeton's two points came on a safety in the first period.

Yale got a surprise in Bucknell, winning by a 29 to 14 score, while Harvard was able to beat Holy Cross by only a 6 to 0 score. It was not a big day for the "Big Three" of the East.

Penn State crushed the Navy 21 to 6, Harry Wilson scoring three touchdowns, one of them from the kick-off. The Army defeated Auburn 28 to 6, while Syracuse, playing in the Yankee stadium in New York, defeated the powerful Pittsburgh eleven, 3 to 0.

The western conference games brought Iowa's first defeat in the last 22 games of football, Illinois crushing the Iowans by a score of 9 to 6. Britton made a 50-yard place kick for Illinois.

Michigan showed great strength in defeating Ohio State, 23 to 0, before 45,000 persons at Ann Arbor. Wisconsin ran almost at will through Indiana, for a 52 to 0 victory, while Purdue university and Wabash played a 7 to 7 tie. Chicago beat Northwestern, 13 to 0.

The University of North Dakota battled hard against Minnesota in the annual contest of the two teams, but lost 27 to 0. Powerful line plunges of Minnesota backs accounted for most of the Gophers' big gains. Carl Lidberg, Minnesota half, sheered the supporters of Spaulding's team by his fine work. The North Dakota team won cheers for the gameness displayed in the face of great odds.

The North Dakota Aggies showed strength Saturday in playing the Des Moines University Tigers to a 0 to 0 score at Des Moines. Both teams were well matched, except that the Aggies were outwitted.

ZEV TRIUMPHS EASILY OVER ENGLISH HORSE

Showing of Papyrus Blamed in Part to the Soggy Condition of the Track

FELL BEHIND BADLY

Belmont Park, New York, Oct. 22.—Coming down the home stretch with a blinding irresistible burst of speed, Zev, the Rancocas Stable's great son of the Finn-Miss Kearney, scored a smashing thoroughbred victory for America Saturday afternoon, conquering Papyrus, the English derby winner by the decisive margin of six lengths over the mile and a half Belmont Park course.

With Zev's sensational victory went $80,000 of the $100,000 purse for which the classic was fought and the crown of the three year old champion of the world at stake for the first time in one of the most colorful spectacles American turf history has ever known.

A vast throng of 60,000, the largest in eastern track annals, gathered in this picturesque Long Island setting in expectation of a tense duel for thoroughbred laurels. But while there were thrills aplenty, the crowd saw the American cold sweep to a triumph almost as one-sided as it was spectacular.

Over a track that was heavy and soggy from several days of rain, Zev answered pre-race fears that he was not in the best of condition by galloping to convincing, impressive victory over Papyrus. After a rather bad start, Zev overtook his rival before the first quarter pole had been reached and thereafter was never headed, despite the game and gallant efforts of the English champion. Over the first mile and a quarter it was a thrilling race, Zev leading by practically a length over that distance, standing off the challenges of Papyrus and apparently running well within himself. Then came the real test, the final quarter and Zev met it brilliantly while Papyrus was found wanting.

Makes Great Finish.
 Straightening out his mount for the finishing drive, Earl Sande, premier American rider, gave Zev his head and the colt responded with a terrific burst of speed. Papyrus fell behind rapidly, apparently tired and "all in" under this withering pace, for Zev galloped under the wire and six lengths in the van amid a thunderous ovation from the throng that had watched the struggle in pulse-grIPPING suspense.

Zev, always a noted "mud horse," demonstrated he was completely at home in the heavy going and after the race it seemed that the story of Papyrus' defeat lay in part at least to the fact that the derby winner seemed unable to run at his best on the sloppy track.

Papyrus Disappointing.
 There was no question but that Papyrus was a disappointment to turf critics, especially in view of the English horse's brilliant time trials just before the race, and perhaps an explanation of this was the fact, developed after the match, that the derby winner was shod smoothly while Zev wore both toe and heel caulks. This, it was said, accounted for the fact that Papyrus seemed to slip at the start, unable to gain firm footing.

"Papyrus was not at home in the going," declared Steve Donoghue, the great English jockey, who rode the invader, afterward, and this opinion was confirmed by Basil Jarvis, the colt's trainer, but neither put this forward as an alibi for defeat. There was doubt in their minds, as well as those of the vast gathering that the best horse, as they stood today, won.

Behind the test of thoroughbred speed and stamina, was a brilliant duel of horsemanship and in this matching of riding wits, Sande, won over his famous rival, Donoghue, winner of five English derbies, who piloted Papyrus to triumph in this year's classic at Epsom Downs.

It was Sande's generalship as much as Zev's greatness that brought victory to America. The little jockey who has piloted the Rancocas star to all of his big triumphs, outmaneuvered and outthought his opponent.

The time of the race, 2 minutes 35.2-5 seconds, was not remarkable but it was good in the fact of existing track conditions. The fractional times showed that Zev displayed his greatest speed over the first five furlongs of the race but by comparison with Papyrus, the Rancocas colt seemed to travel swiftest in the final stages of the encounter.

"BEARCATS" BEAT LINTON

Bismarck High Second Team Wins, 19 to 0

The "Bearcats," the reserve eleven of the local high, registered their second win over the Linton first string men by a score of 19 to 0, in a contest staged on the local grid-iron Saturday afternoon.

The heavy, but inexperienced Linton eleven was no match for the lighter Bismarck team. On the first play after the initial kick-off, a delayed crossback made telling effect on the unprepared Lintonites, and Kiebert brushed aside a few opponents and ran sixty yards for the first counter.

Archie McElwain piloted his team to another touchdown in the first half, and the last quarter brought another tally. Noddings and Kiebert, two of Houser's mainstays on the first eleven.

RECORD DROP KICK

FIELD PHELPS

What is claimed to be a world record for high school players is credited to Field Phelps halfback of the Colorado Springs eleven who registered a clean-cut dropkick from the 50-yard line. Colorado Springs was playing against a rival high school team from Florence, Colo., when Phelps dropped back and performed his amazing feat.

LEADS ELEVEN

CAPTAIN McELWAIN

This determined looking young fellow answers to the name of W. T. McElwain (the suspicion is that his first name is Bill) and he is a big guy around the campus of the Northwestern university, being no less a personage than captain of the football team.

en, donned the moleskins, and were given some practice for a few minutes during the contest.

Bismarck's scores came as the result of end runs and forward passes, while Linton resorted to bucking the line for their gains.

The "Bearcat" lineup was composed of: Ends, Register, Blunt, Perkins and Erickson; tackles, Jones, Sowles; guards, Kollman, Hillman and Garske; center, Benson; quarterback, McGray and Olson; halfbacks, Boelter, Day and Noddings; fullback, Kiebert and Byrne.

Officials were: Mal Brown, referee; Bruce Murphy, umpire; Herbie O'Hare, head linesman.

MINOT TEAM WINS TITLE IN NORTHWEST

Puts Williston Out of Running For High School Honors, By 22 to 14 Score

Minot high school won a clear claim to the northwestern high school football title Saturday afternoon by defeating Williston 22 to 14, and should Bismarck keep her slate clear in the game next Saturday with Mandan, Minot and Bismarck may meet to settle the district championship. It is the first time in seven years the Williston team has not been in the running for state honors.

Fargo high defeated Jamestown 8 to 0 Saturday, the Fargo team having a much harder time to win than the dope indicated. Absence of Rusch from the Fargo lineup handicapped the team. Fargo is expected to play with the Oakes team for the southeastern championship. Oakes beat Valley City, 12 to 7, hardly as impressive a victory as that of Bismarck over the Valley team by a 12 to 0 score.

Grafton took the lead in the north-eastern district by defeating Grand Forks high, 7 to 6. Devils Lake and Larimore remain undefeated, having played a 6 to 6 tie.

Garrison Wins Over Coleharbor

Coach Jerstad of the Garrison high school, has whipped his gridiron warriors into shape, which is well illustrated by the way they took the Coleharbor players into camp on their own field at Coleharbor Friday. The score stood, 39 to 0, in favor of the visitors.

Jerstad's crew showed a driving attack going through the line and around the end for downs time after time, the locals only held the visitors to downs once.

The visitors completed two out of three passes, Ray and Taylor caught one each.

Captain McElwain and Robinson were the most adept at gaining ground for the visitors, they made several line smashes and end runs, gaining ground nearly every time.

Garrison still carries the honor of never letting a high school score against them.

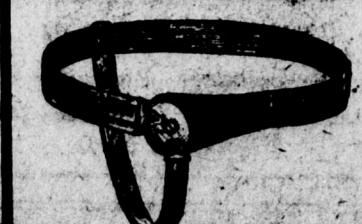

The locals put a good fight but showed the lack of experience. As this was their first game of the season.

Coleharbor's center was very adept at running back on kickoffs.

Touchdown: McElwain 3, Robinson 2, Boise 1. Points after touchdowns: McElwain 2, Taylor 1.

Heimdall, according to Celtic mythology, was the perfect sentinel.

His hearing was so acute that he could hear the wool growing on a sheep's back. His eyesight was so keen he could see everything that happened even though it occurred while he slept.

Advertising, if you use it properly, is an infallible sentinel for you. It guards you against fraud and inferiority. It protects you against making unwise and unsatisfactory purchases.

Merchants and manufacturers who advertise must give full value because they have good names to protect. The makers of well-known products and the stores that sell these products often value the names at millions of dollars. They cannot afford to jeopardize the worth of these names by selling any but good goods of full measure and fair price.

So, you can bank on this. Advertisements must be as advertised. That is why it pays to deal with advertisers and to buy advertised products.

NOTRE DAME WINS LAURELS IN FOOTBALL

Saturday's Victory Over
Princeton an Impressive One
For Catholic University

IOWA IS DEFEATED

Chicago, Oct. 22.—Notre Dame university took the spotlight in college football today, as a result of the 35 to 2 beating handed Princeton Saturday in the second successive inter-sectional game of the Indiana school. The Catholics launched a bewildering series of punting runs and forward passes against Princeton, making four touchdowns. Princeton got but four first downs. Princeton's two points came on a safety in the first period.

Yale got a surprise in Bucknell, winning by a 29 to 14 score, while Harvard was able to beat Holy Cross by only a 6 to 0 score. It was not a big day for the "Big Three" of the East.

Penn State crushed the Navy 21 to 6, Harry Wilson scoring three touchdowns, one of them from the kick-off. The Army defeated Auburn 38 to 6, while Syracuse, playing in the Yankee stadium in New York, defeated the powerful Pittsburgh eleven, 8 to 0.

The western conference games brought Iowa's first defeat in the last 22 games of football, Illinois crushing the Iowans by a score of 9 to 6. Britto made a 50-yard place kick for Illinois.

Michigan showed great strength in defeating Ohio State 23 to 0, before 45,000 persons at Ann Arbor. Wisconsin ran almost at will through Indiana, for a 52 to 0 victory, while Purdue university and Wabash played a 7 to 7 tie. Chicago beat Northwestern, 13 to 0.

The University of North Dakota battled hard against Minnesota in the annual contest of the two teams, but lost 27 to 0. Powerful line plunges of Minnesota backs accounted for most of the Gophers' big gains. Carl Lidberg, Minnesota half, cheered the supporters of Spaulding's team by his fine work. The North Dakota team won cheers for the gameness displayed in the face of great odds.

The North Dakota Aggies showed strength Saturday in playing the Des Moines University Tigers to a 0 to 0 score at Des Moines. Both teams were well matched, except that the Aggies were outweighed.

ZEY TRIUMPHS EASILY OVER ENGLISH HORSE

Showing of Papyrus Blamed in Part of the Soggy Condition of the Track

FELL BEHIND BADLY

Belmont Park, New York, Oct. 22.—Coming down the home stretch with a blinding irresistible burst of speed, Zev, the Ranocoea Stable's great son of the Finn-Miss Kearney, scored a smashing, thoroughbred victory for America Saturday afternoon, conquering Papyrus, the English derby winner by the decisive margin of six lengths over the mile and a half Belmont Park course.

With Zev's sensational victory went $80,000 of the $100,000 purse for which the classic was fought and the crown of the three year old champion of the world at stake for the first time in one of the most colorful spectacles American turf history has ever known.

A vast throng of 60,000, the largest in eastern track annals, gathered in this picturesque Long Island setting in expectation of a tense duel for thoroughbred laurels. But while there were thrills aplenty, the crowd saw the American cold sweep to a triumph almost as one sided as it was spectacular.

Over a track that was heavy and soggy from several days of rain, Zev answered pre-race fears that he was not in the best of condition by galloping to convincing, impressive victory over Papyrus.

After a rather bad start, Zev overtook his rival before the first quarter pole had been reached and thereafter was never headed, despite the game and gallant efforts of the English champion.

Over the first mile and a quarter it was a thrilling race, Zev leading by practically a length over that distance, standing off the challenges of Papyrus and apparently running well within himself. Then came the real test, the final quarter and Zev met it brilliantly while Papyrus was found wanting.

Makes Great Finish. Straightening out his mount for the finishing drive, Earl Sande, premier American rider, gave Zev the head and the colt responded with a terrific burst of speed. Papyrus fell behind rapidly, apparently tired and "all in" under this withering pace, for Zev galloped under the wire and six lengths in the van amid a thunderous ovation from the throng that had watched the struggle in pulse-grIPPING suspense.

Zev, always a noted "mud horse," demonstrated he was completely at home in the heavy going and after the race it seemed that the story of Papyrus' defeat lay in part at least to the fact that the derby winner seemed unable to run at his best on the sloppy track.

Papyrus Disappointing. There was no question but that Papyrus was a disappointment to turf critics, especially in view of the English horse's brilliant time trials just before the race, and perhaps an explanation of this was the fact, developed after the match, that the derby winner was shod smoothly while Zev wore both toe and heel caulks. This, it was accounted for the fact that Papyrus seemed to slip at the start, unable to gain firm footing.

"Papyrus was not at home in the going," declared Steve Donoghue, the great English jockey, who rode the invader, afterward, and this opinion was confirmed by Basil Jarvis, Zev's trainer, but neither put this forward as an alibi for defeat. There was doubt in their minds, as well as those of the vast gathering that the best horse, as they stood today, won.

Behind the test of thoroughbred speed and stamina, was a brilliant duel of horsemanship and in this matching of riding wits, Sande, won over his famous rival, Donoghue, winner of five English derbies, who piloted Papyrus to triumph in this year's classic at Epsom Downs.

It was Sande's generalship as much as Zev's greatness that brought victory to America. The little jockey who has piloted the Ranocoea star to all of his big triumphs, outmaneuvered and outthought his opponent.

The time of the race, 2 minutes 35.2 seconds, was not remarkable but it was good in the fact of existing track conditions. The fractional times showed that Zev displayed his greatest speed over the first five furlongs of the race but by comparison with Papyrus, the Ranocoea colt seemed to travel swiftest in the final stages of the encounter.

The "Bearcats," the reserve eleven of the local high school, registered their second win over the Linton first string men by a score of 19 to 0, in a contest staged on the local grid-iron Saturday afternoon.

The heavy, but inexperienced Linton eleven was no match for the lighter Bismarck team. On the first play after the initial kick-off, a delayed crossback pass, telling effect on the unprepared Lintonites, and Kiebert brushed aside a few opponents and ran sixty yards for the first counter.

Archie McElwain piloted his team to another touchdown in the first half, and the last quarter brought another tally.

Noddings and Kiebert, two of Houser's mainstays on the first eleven, denied the molehills, and were given some practice for a few minutes during the contest.

Bismarck's scores came as the result of end runs and forward passes, while Linton resorted to bucking the line for their gains.

LEADS ELEVEN

CAPTAIN McELWAIN

This determined looking young fellow answers to the name of W. J. McElwain (the suspicion is that his first name is Bill) and he is a big guy around the campus of the Northwestern university, being no less a personage than captain of the football team.

en, denied the molehills, and were given some practice for a few minutes during the contest.

The "Bearcats" lineup was composed of: Ends, Register, Blunt, Perkins and Erickson; tackles, Jones, Sowles; guards, Kellman, Hillman and Garake; center, Benson; quarterback, McGray and Olson; halfbacks, Boelter, Day and Noddings; fullback, Kiebert and Byrne.

Officials were: Mal Brown, referee; Bruce Murphy, umpire; Harle O'Hare, head linesman.

Minot high school won a clear claim to the northwestern high school football title Saturday afternoon by defeating Williston 22 to 14, and should Bismarck keep her slate clear in the game next Saturday with Mandan, Minot and Bismarck may meet to settle the district championship. It is the first time in seven years the Williston team has not been in the running for state honors.

Fargo high defeated Jamestown 8 to 0 Saturday, the Fargo team having a much harder time to win than the dope indicated. Absence of Rusch from the Fargo lineup handicapped the team. Fargo is expected to play with the Oakes team for the southeastern championship. Oakes beat Valley City, 12 to 7, hardly an impressive victory as that of Bismarck over the Valley team by a 12 to 0 score.

Grafton took the lead in the north-eastern district by defeating Grand Forks high, 7 to 0. Devils Lake and Larimore remain undefeated, having played a 6 to 6 tie.

Garrison Wins Over Coleharbor

Coach Jerstad of the Garrison high school, has whipped his gridiron warriors into shape, which is well illustrated by the way they took the Coleharbor players into camp on their own field at Coleharbor Friday. The score stood, 39 to 0, in favor of the visitors.

Jerstad's crew showed a driving attack going through the line and around the end for downs time after time, the locals only held the visitors to downs once.

The visitors completed two out of three passes, Ray and Taylor caught one each.

Captain McElwain and Robinson were the most adept at gaining ground for the visitors, they made several line smashes and end runs, gaining ground nearly every time.

Garrison still carries the honor of never letting a high school score against them.

The locals put a good fight but showed the lack of experience. As this was their first game of the season.

Coleharbor's center was very adept at running back on kickoffs.

An Infallible Guard

Heimdall, according to Celtic mythology, was the perfect sentinel.

His hearing was so acute that he could hear the wool growing on a sheep's back. His eyesight was so keen he could see everything that happened even though it occurred while he slept.

Advertising, if you use it properly, is an infallible sentinel for you. It guards you against fraud and inferiority. It protects you against making unwise and unsatisfactory purchases.

Merchants and manufacturers who advertise must give full value because they have good names to protect. The makers of well-known products and the stores that sell these products often value the names at millions of dollars. They cannot afford to jeopardize the worth of these names by selling any but good goods of full measure and fair price.

So, you can bank on this. Advertised goods must be as advertised.

That is why it pays to deal with advertisers and to buy advertised products.

Advertising is your guard

KIWANIS CLUB MEMBERS HEAR OF PURPOSES

Inception, Growth and Aims of Organization Are Outlined at Today's Luncheon

ALSO HOBBIES TOLD

Members of the Kiwanis club, at today's weekly luncheon at the McKenzie, heard talks upon the organization, what it has done in the country and what Kiwanis clubs may do. C. L. Robertson, Worth Lumry and E. B. Cox talked upon various phases of the general subject.

Mr. Robertson, sketching past history for similarity with Kiwanis club teachings, found in the proverbs and injunctions of sages of past civilizations symbols of the Kiwanis club fundamentals. The motto, "We Build," he compared to their teachings.

Also tracing the development of the club from the standpoint of commercial growth, he used a graph to show that Kiwanis had expanded from a small beginning in 1915 until in 1933 it has over 1,100 clubs with over 83,000 members. The organization, he said, is reaching out from the large cities into the smaller cities of the country where there is need for an organization built upon the principles of Kiwanis. Kiwanis, he said, embraces the good purpose of an organization without form or ceremony to hide the aims from the members.

Mr. Lumry emphasized the duty of Kiwanis spirit of fair play in business and recognition of duty to the underprivileged, both mature and young, but with emphasis upon efforts to secure for the underprivileged the opportunities which they might miss without a helping hand. While education has made wonderful strides in the nation and altruistic effort has reached a high stage, yet there is pressing necessity for an organization to devote its best thought to the subjects. Schools can be improved, the health of the community bettered, the desires of the young for recreation turned into the proper channels and the underprivileged given a chance to make good, he said.

Mr. Cox, talking upon the possibilities of the club in its first year of existence, said that he believed no greater step could be made than by "getting acquainted." He urged upon the members the necessity of co-operation and friendly feeling in its building up process, expressed gratification that the club had started with a membership which did not depend upon numerical strength for its success.

Fifteen minutes of banter and lifting of secrets preceded the talks, during which Bill Gettleman told something of the hobbies of Jack Wallace, Edward Cox talked with and about Dr. C. E. Stackhouse, M. B. Gilman told of George Russ' tennis hobby, Dick Wenzel spoke of R. B. Murphy, L. C. Sorlien of Spencer, Boise, and John Graham of Judge Birdsell. Jack Parkinson, as chairman of the day, kept the diners bubbling over with laughter.

The attendance prize drawn by lot went to President Scott Cameron. The prize, a first aid kit was donated by Dr. N. O. Ramstad.

DESCRIBES NEW MINNESOTA ORE

State Is Producing Entirely New Variety of Iron Ore, Says Geologist

Minneapolis, Oct. 22.—Minnesota is producing a brand new iron ore, according to Prof. George M. Schwartz, of the department of geology, University of Minnesota. Three hundred tons a day of the new product is going to Detroit for use in the manufacture of a widely known automobile.

Magnetite iron bearing rock has been known to exist for many years in Northern Minnesota, Dr. Schwartz explained, but it has been impossible to call it an ore because it could not be smelted by any simple process. The magnetic concentration process, introduced by an iron company on the Mesabi range in northern Minnesota, however, changes the rock into a true ore, capable of being smelted, and it is on this account that it is now considered a new ore.

The magnetite rock is found in huge beds at the east end of the Mesabi range and has limitless possibilities of development, according to geologists and miners at the Minnesota university. The concentrating machinery that is being used was invented some years ago by E. W. Davis, superintendent of the mines experiment station at the University of Minnesota.

"The magnetite are being used at present," Dr. Schwartz declared, "is found on the part of the Mesabi range which lies east of the town of Mesabi. The pit of the Mesabi Iron Company is near Sulphur Diking, at a new town called Babbitt. This part of the range is usually known as the East Mesabi, and extends from the town of Mesabi to Birch Lake, a distance of 20 miles. It was in this area that the iron formation of Minnesota was first discovered, but on account of the absence of rich ores it received little attention until recently."

Katy Never Lost Love For Children
Boston, Oct. 22.—A chair-woman devoted to children has been revealed through the receipt by the treasurer of the Children's Hospital of this city for her donation of $1,000 to make the lives of suffering little ones a bit easier. Kate Lucy Walsh has lost all these of her own children when they were young. Thereafter she devoted her life to making other women's children happier, and in many a household where she was employed her hearty laugh and cheerful outlook on life dispelled momentary clouds.

Mrs. Walsh was more than 70 years of age when she succumbed to pneumonia. Her will made the Children's Hospital her sole legatee and executors found that her savings from a life of hard work amounted to the sum which has been turned over to the hospital. Above a little bed in the hospital will be placed a tablet bearing her name.

ZEV, MY OWN MAY MEET

Proposal Put Forward For Race Between Horses Next Week

New York, Oct. 22.—Followers of the turf are discussing a probable race between Zev, winner over Papyrus, in Saturday's International classic and My Own, another three year old of note.

The excitement of the great American victory hardly had subsided when Harry Sinclair, owner of Zev last night came forward with an announcement that his horse would meet Rear Admiral Grayson's My Own, if the race could be staged within the next ten days. He said he would prefer the Belmont track for the event.

Mr. Sinclair's announcement pleased admirers of My Own, many of whom are convinced that Zev will finish second. My Own was boosted by many as the choice for the race against Papyrus and if the two horses meet they will settle much discussion.

Corfu Bootblacks Rival Americans

Corfu, Oct. 22.—The American shoe shine parlor manned by Greeks is the transplanting of a time-worn profession from their old country. Corfu is a city of 30,000 people but it has a shoe shiner for about every 300 inhabitants or about 100 shoe shiners. There are so many of them that a prospective customer is besieged with offers of "the best shine in town," and often, the competition is so keen that the successful polishers are dealt a stealthy blow as he kneels to perform his function.

At Corfu gets its shoes shined by the 100 professionals. Lines of them occupy the main squares of the city and men, women and children from every walk in life are lined up for the morning shine. The variety of shoes too is perplexing, but the Greek polisher goes ahead and gives the best that is in him. It is strange that here at the very beginning of the Near East, the best shine in Europe may be secured. In England and France, there is nothing like the brilliant American shine. But here, there is the perfect reproduction of the glittering American brand and one is forced to wonder if America imported it from the Greeks or the Greeks from America.

PROBES HOG, CORN PRICES

Ration in Prices Not in Proper Proportion, Says Secretary

Washington, Oct. 22.—Investigation as to whether prevailing low prices being paid for hogs are the result of undue influence is being made by Secretary Wallace.

Over a period of 60 years the Secretary has found the value of 100 pounds of hogs has been approximately the equivalent of 11 bushels of No. 2 corn at Chicago prices but prices have fallen to such an extent as compared to the raising prices of corn that the corn-hog price ratio is out of proportion.

Hogs closed last week around $7.00 per hundred pounds for the average bulk sales while corn closed at $1.07 a bushel. The low prices of hogs for the year was $6.65.

HONOR PAID SLAIN MAN

Member of Posse Shot Capturing Slayer Is Buried

Alexandria, Minn., Oct. 22.—Full honors were paid Wm. Ransden, 23, former service man, who died as a result of wounds received while attempting to dislodge Edward Larson, slayer of Jacob Day, a neighbor, early Saturday morning at the funeral services this afternoon held under the auspices of the local American Legion post.

TEA POT DOME NOT SO GOOD

Being Drained Heavily by Adjacent Oil Operators

Washington, Oct. 22.—Tempt Dome, the naval oil reserve laid leased last year to Harry S. Sinclair is being drained so heavily by adjacent private operators that it will produce far less oil than originally predicted in the opinion of two expert geologists who investigated the situation for the Senate Public lands committee.

Although the Bureau of Mines estimated originally that the reserve of 135 to 200 million barrels of oil, the geologists estimated that the yield from the main bearing sand would not exceed 24 to 26 billion barrels. It is even a smaller estimate of a separate survey of the navy and interior departments.

When Nervous Take a Flight

By NEA Service
Ransom, Kas., Oct. 22.—When you get tired and nervous and are just on edge of "going up in the air"—Do it! Go right up. Take a flight, and relieve your shattered nerves of the strain. But—here's the point—use an airplane to go up, instead of merely releasing that pent-up nervousness within you. Little Mrs. Bertha Horchem, daring aviatrix, says so. She gives this advice to other women, because she herself has found it extremely beneficial.

That, for a little woman, just 100 pounds in weight!

But all the high-strung nerves in this little body of hers cannot upset her equilibrium. For every time she feels them twining and annoying her, up she goes for a flight. After doing a few stunts in the air, she comes down a new woman.

So she advises other women to do likewise. Can't?

Well, say, there's a good reason why women should make good, careful pilots, say Mrs. Horchem. They're intently careful, even more so than men.

Fast-Learner
Mrs. Horchem thought she would never make good at aviation. But after only one four-hour lesson from her husband she took the machine out alone—and gave him the surprise of his life.

Now Mrs. Horchem is performing
